CHARLES KUHN

Word has been received here of the death of Charles Kuhn, a former Adams Countian at his home in Denver, Colorado, Tuesday, Nov. 28d. He was aged about 78 years.

The deceased was one of the six sons of the late Joseph and Jane (McCabe) Kuhn, and was born on the old homestead near East Berlin. His father was a former Associate Judge of Adams County.

When a young man, Mr. Kuhn went to Hanover, and with John Martin, P. S. Bowman, of Grangeville, the late George W. Sell, of Conewago township, and the late John Yohe, conducted a grain warehouse, having been succeeded by the present firm of Wm. J. Young & Co., at the same location. Mr. Kuhn inherited strong traits of character from his father, the same being borne out by the six sons, three of whom still survive. He was held in high esteem by all with whom he came in contact, and honor characterized his every transaction. In 1873 Mr. Kuhn answered the "Call of the West," and thither he went, finally locating on a ranch about 20 miles from Denver, where he engaged in sheep and cattle raising. He accumulated a large fortune and about ten years ago retired to private life, taking up his residence in Denver.

The deceased was married to a Miss Myers, of York Springs, who survives him. An only daughter died some years ago.

During his illness he was attended by his brother, Dr. George Kuhn, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Besides his widow, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Jane Reiley, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and three brothers, Joseph Kuhn, of Port Townsend, Washington; John R. Kuhn, Esq., and Dr. George Kuhn, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Interment was made at Denver.

WOMAN IN BLACK
AGAIN IN TOWNMysterious Character again Appears in North End of Town, Peering into Windows and Alarming Women.

The mysterious "woman in black" who several months ago annoyed the residents of the North End of town has again made her appearance and is busy peering into windows and, so far as is known, doing no other harm.

Those who have seen the visitor describe her as about 5 feet 10 inches in height with broad shoulders. She wears a heavy black veil and a black dress. Some of the residents think that the mysterious person is a man in woman's clothing.

On Friday evening of last week "she" was seen peering into the side windows of a number of houses along North Washington street. In every case women saw her and all were afraid to say anything or to investigate. Houses were locked a little more securely but nothing else done.

Saturday night she was again seen along the same street, walking slowly and sometimes stopping and peering into the windows.

Her conduct this time is exactly the same as at the time of the visit a few months ago. No clue whatever has been obtained showing her identity and she remains as mysterious a personage as ever.

Her presence has caused no little alarm in the North end as many believe she is simply spying to find a good place for one to operate with a view to entering the homes in that part of town.

Walter Claxton in "Her American Husband." Mr. Claxton is one of those men who believe in doing things well. With this in view he first went to England to study the art of acting, and during his six years' stay in that country became associated with Mr. Beerholm Tree of His Majesty's Theatre, London, and Mr. Edward Terry of Terry's Theatre in the Strand.

In America he has been singularly successful, playing leading parts with Miss Nancy O'Neil, Miss Margaret Wyehorly, and Miss Henrietta Crossman, also with "Piff, Paff, Pout," the popular Casino Theatre success, in which he sang the principal baritone role in Mr. Whitney's all star cast.

Theatre goes throughout the entire U. S. A. and Canada will remember vividly his remarkable performance of the messenger in "A Message from Mars," which he played for two years, winning extraordinary praise from press and public from coast to coast. But a word must be said for the man himself. He is an artist of high ideals and endeavor, rating among his friends and admirers many celebrities of today.

DEER HUNTING IN
ADAMS COUNTYDeer Hunting Past and Present
The Individual Hunter is Succeeded by the Camp System. Interesting Sketch.

The following interesting sketch of deer hunting in Adams County has been prepared by a valued subscriber living in the Western end of the county.

Deer hunting, like all other businesses has become one of the greatest things of the present day.

Thirty or more years ago there were in the vicinity of Cashtown only a very few men who really considered themselves marksmen enough to undertake such an arduous feat, as it was then considered, and with the weapons of those days their consideration was correct.

Fond remembrances of early boyhood days recall the names of Dr. W. C. Stern, David Stover and George Sheely, all long since passed beyond and Andrew Wisler, Levi Heiges, James Lauver and John H. Mickle, each having several to their credit, and Eli Hahn who killed two at one shot on one occasion. Also the Corwells, Kaines, McKenricks and Coles of Buchanan Valley, with whom I was not so well acquainted; many of whom have gone to their last resting place. These might be termed the Patriarchs.

The efforts of these men (usually two or three of them going together for a day's hunt) were occasionally rewarded with one deer for the season but often by an empty stomach and gun. When they were fortunate enough to bring a deer to town it created as much excitement among the inhabitants as would Wright's air ship were it to pass here today. The use of the old army musket, the smooth-bore rifle and weapons of that character were in vogue, and to miss a shot meant fifteen minutes lost time for reloading which often resulted in defeat and discouragement.

Later years, however, brought the double barreled shot gun and with it the use of buckshot which wrought somewhat greater destruction to the venison producing creatures. Next the breech loading guns, still a better one.

Camping in those days was an unknown factor in this community.

Soon after this the double barreled shot gun was superseded by modern rifles, known for their hard, far and accurate shooting, qualities. Among these are the Winchester, Marlin, Stevens, Springfield and Savage. Most of these guns throw a steel jacketed projectile accurately for many thousand feet, and at any reasonable distance will pierce a green tree twelve inches in diameter through and through.

Filled with American superiority many of the young men have the honor of being experts in handling these instruments of death, and on account of this our Legislature deemed it prudent to enact laws making the use of ball the only permissible mode of killing deer.

Having acquired this proficient use of the modern gun the minds began to decipher a more profitable method of hunting, when about ten years ago camping was first installed which today has grown to immense proportions. Among the camps are Cashtown, Arentsville, Kanes, Adams County, Taylor, and Brysonia. Each of these seems to have a certain locality upon which to locate and do the major portion of their hunting, with an occasional discount on trespass.

In connection with this camp life they have everything needed for the comfort of mankind; provisions galore with an ample supply for all visitors at reasonable rates. And it is said their hospitality is unlimited. Hundreds of men are thus dwellers in "rag" houses from Nov. 15th to 30th inclusive.

Their method of procedure while on a hunt requires tact, talent and experience, and all three of these are sometimes defeated.

The man in charge for the day will station certain of his men at some familiar point or "crossing," such as Lippincott Path, Gum Spring Hollow, Birch Run, Deer Leg, The Fort, Snaggy Ridge, and forty other similar names heard in connection with every "drive" that is made, and after these men are posted the others encircle a certain scope of ground and make, as they term it, a "drive" toward those posted. Through brush so thick that were the climate warmer "Tiddy" it would not need go to South Africa for "big game," truck, swamp, and briars go to make up the highway of their searches. The week need not apply for the second dose. These drives are made one after another at different places until the deer are put to flight when the cannonading begins to echo on the distant

Opening of Fifty Fifth Annual Sessions of Adams County Institute. Music a Feature again this Year. Opening Session.

Two hundred Adams County school teachers are here for the fifty fifth annual sessions of the teachers' institute which convened this afternoon in Xavier Hall.

The session was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. J. B. Baker pastor of St. James Lutheran church. The address of welcome was made by W. C. Sheely, Esq., and Prof. L. Dale Crunkleton, of Littlestown, made the response. The work of the institute was then taken up in earnest.

A corps of well known and able instructors has been secured for the work of the week and the institute promises to be one of the most profitable ever held here. The evening entertainments comprise the strongest course Prof. Roth has ever secured so that the week will doubtless be one of the best in every particular that Adams County has seen.

As in other years the music will be one of the features of the day sessions. In addition to the director, Miss Maud Bucher, of Cumberland township, will accompany on the piano and J. Allen Holtzworth will be the cornetist for the week. Miss Mary G. Emert, of New Oxford, will be the soloist.

A Real Lightning Tour

In an amusing picture entitled "A Lightning Tour Through Europe," Lyman H. Howe shows the disadvantages and discomforts of trying to do Europe with more speed than comfort. Nevertheless it is quite possible to visit many foreign lands with lightning-like rapidity and at the same time enjoy every comfort. This can be done by travelling by Lyman H. Howe's Short Line or Travel Festival at the Walter's Theatre on Wednesday, December 1.

Will arrive at Spangler's warehouse a car of sound yellow western ear corn in a few days and will sell it for 65 cts. per bushel.

Walter Cluxton in "Her American Husband." Mr. Cluxton is one of those men who believe in doing things well. With this in view he first went to England to study the art of acting, and during his six years' stay in that country became associated with Mr. Beerbohm Tree of His Majesty's Theatre, London, and Mr. Edward Terry of Terry's Theatre in the Strand. In America he has been singularly successful, playing leading parts with Miss Nance O'Neil, Miss Margaret Wycherly, and Miss Henrietta Crossman, also with "Piff, Paff, Puff," the popular Casino Theatre success, in which he sang the principal baritone role in Mr. Whitney's all star cast.

Theatre goes throughout the entire U. S. A. and Canada will remember vividly his remarkable performance of the messenger in "A Message from Mars," which he played for two years, winning extraordinary praise from press and public from coast to coast. But a word must be said for the man himself. He is an artist of high ideals and endeavor, rating among his friends and admirers many celebrities of today.

DEER HUNTING IN ADAMS COUNTY

Deer Hunting Past and Present
The Individual Hunter is Succeeded by the Camp System. Interesting Sketch.

The following interesting sketch of deer hunting in Adams County has been prepared by a valued subscriber living in the Western end of the county.

Deer hunting, like all other businesses has become one of the greatest things of the present day.

Thirty or more years ago there were in the vicinity of Cashtown only a very few men who really considered themselves marksmen enough to undertake such an arduous feat, as it was then considered, and with the weapons of those days their consideration was correct.

Fond remembrances of early boyhood days recall the names of Dr. W. C. Stern, David Stover and George Sheely, all long since passed beyond, and Andrew Wisler, Levi Hoiges, James Lauer and John H. Mickley, each having several to their credit, and Eli Hahn who killed two at one shot on one occasion. Also the Corwells, Kaines, McKenricks and Coles of Buchanan Valley, with whom I was not so well acquainted; many of whom have gone to their last resting place. These might be termed the Patriarchs.

The efforts of these men (usually two or three of them going together for a day's hunt) were occasionally rewarded with one deer for the season but often by an empty stomach and gun. When they were fortunate enough to bring a deer to town it created as much excitement among the inhabitants as would Wright's air ship were it to pass here today. The use of the old army musket, the smooth-bore rifle and weapons of that character were in vogue, and to miss a shot meant fifteen minutes lost time for reloading which often resulted in defeat and discouragement.

Later years, however, brought the double barreled shot gun and with it the use of buckshot which wrought somewhat greater destruction to the venison producing creatures. Next the breech loading guns, still a better one.

Camping in those days was an unknown factor in this community.

Soon after this the double barreled shot gun was superseded by modern rifles, known for their hard, far and accurate shooting qualities. Among these are the Winchester, Marlin, Stevens, Springfield and Savage. Most of these guns throw a steel jacketed projectile accurately for many thousand feet, and at any reasonable distance will pierce a green tree twelve inches in diameter through and through.

Filled with American superiority many of the young men have the honor of being experts in handling these instruments of death, and on account of this our Legislature deemed it prudent to enact laws making the use of ball the only permissible mode of killing deer.

Having acquired this proficient use of the modern gun the minds began to decipher a more profitable method of hunting, when about ten years ago camping was first installed which today has grown to immense proportions. Among the camps are Cashtown, Arendtsville, Kanes, Adams County, Taylor, and Brysonia. Each of these seems to have a certain locality upon which to locate and do the major portion of their hunting, with an occasional discourteous trespass.

In connection with this camp life they have everything needful for the comfort of mankind; provisions galore with an ample supply for all visitors at reasonable rates. And it is said their hospitality is unlimited. Hundreds of men are thus dwellers in "rag" houses from Nov. 15th to 30th inclusive.

Their method of procedure while on a hunt requires tact, talent and experience, and all three of these are sometimes defeated.

The man in charge for the day will station certain of his men at some familiar point or "crossing," such as Lippincott Path, Gum Spring Hollow, Birch Run, Deer Leg, The Fort, Snaggy Ridge, and forty other similar names heard in connection with every "drive" that is made, and after these men are posted the others encircle a certain scope of ground and make, as they term it, a "drive" toward those posted. Through brush so thick that were the climate warmer "Teddy" R. would not need go to South Africa for "big game," rock, swamp, and briars go to make up the highway of their searches. The week need not apply for the second dose. These drives are made one after another at different places until the deer are put to flight when the cannonading begins to echo on the distant

PANIC AS CHURCH BURNS

Woman's screams During Services Startle Rush For Safety.

Georgetown, Del., Nov. 29.—Fire in the Methodist Episcopal church here during the services caused a wild panic among the worshippers, who rushed to the street in terror while the flames played over their heads in the rafters.

The roof of the church is of wood, and it caught fire during the preaching of the sermon. The congregation rose as the pastor concluded his sermon and began to sing a hymn. Suddenly the shrill scream of a woman rang out above the notes of the organ and the sound of the singing. She had seen a red tongue of flame, followed by a puff of smoke, in the roof.

In an instant others saw the fire, and the stampede for the doors began. Nobody was hurt, as the congregation was small, and the fire in the roof did not attack the lower part of the church for some minutes.

The edifice, which was valued at $6000, was burned to the ground. It was insured for $600. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Rear Admiral Wainwright, who commanded the United States converted yacht Gloucester at the battle of San Jacinto, quoted his record and said:

"If that is not good enough the government may release me. The navy includes over 900 officers, and up to date a third of them have yet to do the stunt, while some will no doubt stick to the disobeisant attitude owing to their aversion to physical condition."

Many of the navy men who were to come up for promotion received a surprise when they learned they were obliged to undergo the physical test before trying for advancement.

LURE DOGS TO DEATH

Rabbits Lead Pursuers to Electrocution on Third Rail.

Clayton, N. J., Nov. 29.—Many valuable hunting hounds have met death by electrocution on the third rail since the gunning season opened, and the rabbits seem to have learned that they can end the chase and save their little lives by luring the hounds across the railroad tracks. Very few rabbits are killed on the rails.

With one leap they can clear both third rails, while the pursuing dog generally meets its fate or is shocked so badly that it gives up the chase.

SUGAR TRUST'S MEN ON TRIAL

Seven Defendants Up For Underweighing Frauds.

THEY WILL SEEK DELAY

Attorneys For Accused Men Will Use Every Means Possible to Secure a Postponement—It Is Rumored One of Defendants Will Confess—Prosecution Is Confident.

New York, Nov. 29.—The first of the sugar fraud cases was called for trial today. Seven former officials and employees of the American Sugar Refining company were put on trial before Federal Judge Martin, of Vermont, in the United States district court in this city on the charge of underweighing sugar and conspiring to defraud the government.

The preliminary steps taken thus far by the seven defendants show to what extremes the trust is going in its fight to prevent their conviction, realizing that, if convicted, denouements will follow that will leave the trust in an unenviable position.

The indicted men are: James F. Dendernagel, former general superintendent of the Brooklyn plants of the American Sugar Refining company; Oliver Spitzer, former dock superintendent of the company in Brooklyn; Thomas Kehoe, Joan McVicker, Edward Doyle, John R. Coyle and Patrick Hennessey, weighers.

It is not believed the trials will go on until every legal obstacle at the disposal of the defense can throw in the way have been overcome. Attorneys for the men have prepared a number of demurrers, which must be argued, so that several days are expected to be consumed in the legal technicalities before the actual trial is begun.

A report is still current in New York that one of the indicted officials is prepared to turn state's evidence and lay bare the entire gigantic plot to defraud the government of millions of dollars by underweighing sugar.

Oliver Spitzer, the former dock superintendent, is the man named in these rumors. Special Deputy Attorney General Henry L. Stimson, appointed to prosecute the sugar fraud cases, and District Attorney Wise have spent months preparing for the government's presentation of the case and declare they have their evidence so prepared that there will be no slip up. There are three counts in each indictment. The first charges underweighing, the second, conspiring to underweigh, and the third, conspiring to defraud the government by thus underweighing.

The cargo of the steamship Strathmore, from Java, which was unloaded at the Brooklyn docks of the sugar trust on Nov. 20, 1907, is the specific cargo upon which the indictments are based, while part of the conspiracy is based upon the use of a device found on the scales by which they failed to measure the true weight.

The device was the steel spring placed in a hole at the side of the scale and when a bag of sugar was placed on it a slight pressure on this spring would prevent the scale from weighing the full measure of the sugar. It was from the hole on each of the seventeen scales that the sugar fraud case derived its now frequent name of "The case of the seventeen holes."

REFUSES TO BE GOVERNOR

Judge Ewing Will Not Accept Republican Nomination.

Pittsburg, Nov. 29.—Friends of Judge Nathaniel Ewing, president of the state railroad commission, have announced that the judge will not be a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. It was explained that he is very well satisfied with his present position and has no disposition to enter the strenuous contest for higher honors.

This announcement rather upsets the state of certain Pittsburg financiers, who had planned to make Judge Ewing their candidate.

MUB WHIPS 'PHONE OFFICIAL

Run Out of Town For Forcing Negro Escort Upon Girls.

Dawson, Ga., Nov. 29.—H. C. Gilchrist, of Detroit, superintendent of the telephone exchange here, was cruelly whipped by a number of citizens on account of an attempt by him to force girls employed in the telephone exchange to accept a negro porter as an escort.

Gilchrist's offense was committed on Saturday night. One of the girls was detained rather late and was afraid to go home alone. Gilchrist told the girl the negro could escort her. She refused indignantly and told her companions. All the girls in the exchange struck and Gilchrist resigned, stating that the people of Dawson were too sensitive about the negro question.

Meanwhile a mob was gathering, and when Gilchrist tried to escape in an automobile his car was halted and he was taken out and whipped till blood flowed. He also was forced to sign an abject apology to the telephone girls and then allowed to go.

ELECTRIC LIGHT SHOT BOY

Explosion of Bulb Inflicts Wound That May Prove Fatal.

New York, Nov. 29.—By the explosion of an electric light bulb in a tin can with which he was playing, Joe Koblitzky, seven years old, has a deep wound in the chest and a piece of metal is lodged fast in the flesh. When the bulb exploded with a report like that of a revolver the boy fell, with blood gushing from his chest. Dr. Alexander, of Gouverneur hospital, examined and probed the wound. A hard substance was located, but it could not be extracted.

"I believe that the bulb exploded and a small piece of brass, the size of a 32-caliber bullet, shot the boy," said the surgeon. "He is likely to die."

PASSENGER KILLED WHEN TRAIN PARTED

Fell Under Wheels When Express Broke in Two.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 29.—John J. Flach, of Denver, Colo., was instantly killed in an unusual railroad accident on the New York Central railroad between Buffalo and Rochester. He was a passenger aboard the fast Lake Shore limited, and as he was crossing the vestibule between a Pullman sleeper and the dining car the train broke in two, and he was thrown to his death under the trucks.

The rear part of the train stopped suddenly under application of the air-brakes. William Wickes, the conductor, rushed forward to ascertain the trouble and on the vestibule he noticed a felt hat lie looked down and discovered the body of Mr. Flach doubled up under the trucks.

Mr. Flach was returning to Syracuse to visit his mother and sisters and brothers, whom he had not seen in nine years.

According to railroad officials in this city, this accident was the first of its kind in railroad history in which there has been a loss of life.

Home Course In Live Stock Farming

X.—Handling Dairy Products.

By C. V. GREGORY,

Author of "Home Course In Modern Agriculture," "Making Money on the Farm," Etc.

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association

THE importance of cleanliness in milking was mentioned in the preceding article. In addition to taking care that no dust or dirt falls into the milk, it should not be allowed to stand in the stable any length of time after milking. Milk absorbs odors rapidly, and butter that is "off flavor" is the result.

The milk room may be in connection with the barn or at the well. The latter, if not too far from the barn, is the best place. If the milk room is at the barn it should be separated from it by a tight passageway, with a door at each end to exclude all odors. The milk room should have windows enough to provide plenty of light and ventilation. The floor should be of smooth cement. If the walls are of the same material or of brick coated with cement they can be more easily kept clean than if they are made of wood. The floor should be scrubbed often enough to keep it perfectly clean, and the tank should be cleaned out frequently.

Use of the Hand Separator.

Within the last few years the hand separator has come into general use on farms where six or more cows are kept, doing away with the old gravity system of rising cream. With the separator all the cream can be removed, which is impossible by any other method. The skimmilk and sweet, which is a great advantage. There is less fat in the skimmilk, but this element can be supplied to the calves a good deal more cheaply by flaxseed than by butter. There may be much less space in the milk tank, as only the cream will need to be kept there. Where a creamery is patronized a great deal of work is saved by having only the cream to haul.

In selecting a separator the most important point to look to is the ease of cleaning. There is a great deal of difference in separators in this respect. Some are so complicated that it is almost impossible to wash all parts thoroughly, while others can be so completely taken apart that washing is an easy task. It is not the number of parts to a bowl that makes a separator difficult to keep clean, but the ease with which all these parts may be separated, so that they may be reached with a brush.

Some of the other points to consider are convenience, capacity and durability. The capacity will depend largely upon the number of cows kept. It is always better to get a machine too large than too small. The latest models of nearly all makes of separators are made so that the top of the supply tank is little more than waist high. No other kind should be bought. It is a useless waste of energy to lift heavy cans of milk five or six feet high every night and morning. With these low built makes the skimmilk and cream cans may be placed on the floor, so that they will require little lifting.

The Importance of Cleanliness.

Serious objection has been made to the cream separator on the ground that it lowers the quality of the cream and butter. In many cases there is ground for this complaint. Unless absolute cleanliness is the rule the cream is liable to be of poor quality. The milk and slime in the bowl are the best of food for injurious bacteria, and these multiply rapidly when the separator is not kept clean. Never rinse the bowl with cold water and leave it until the next milking. It cannot be thoroughly cleaned in this way. In cold weather a rinsing with cold water, followed by half a gallon or more of hot water, will do at night. At least once a day in winter and every time the machine is used in summer the bowl should be taken apart, washed well and thoroughly scalded. Be sure to remove every particle of grease and dirt. Use a brush, never a rag. A rag is difficult to keep clean and often forms a home for bacteria. The so called "dish rag" is often found in butter, due to the use of a rag in washing the separator. Neither should a rag be used to dry the bowl or other ware. In starting to wash the separator and other milk dishes cold water should be used first to remove the milk, as hot water scalds the casein and makes it difficult to remove. This rinsing should be followed by a thorough washing with hot water and a final rinsing with boiling water. If the dishes are then set on the back of the stove they will dry quickly without rusting.

Handling the Cream.

As soon as the cream is separated it should be cooled down to about 50 degrees as rapidly as possible. This can be done by putting it in a tank of fresh well water. Do not keep the cream too long before taking it to the creamery, not over two days in warm weather and three or four in cold. Good butter cannot be made from old cream.

It hardly pays to make butter on the farm unless special customers can be obtained. Creameries have multiplied until there is one within easy shipping distance of almost every farm. The organization of co-operative creameries has kept most markets on a strictly competitive basis, so that the prices paid for cream are usually as high as the market will warrant. These large creameries are usually equipped with all the latest appliances for buttermaking. They are in charge of experienced buttermakers and are in shape to turn out a uniform product that will sell for much higher prices than the ordinary run of farm made butter.

Use of the Tester.

No dairy farmer can afford to be without a Babcock tester. A complete tester, consisting of a tester, milk and cream bottles and a supply of sulphuric acid, can be purchased for about $5. With a tester the farmer can test his cows, as described in article 8, at home. He can test the separator to see that it is working properly. If the bowl is wobbly or the machine out of level a considerable amount of butter fat may be lost in the skimmilk without the dairyman knowing anything about it. If you churn your own cream a tester will enable you to test your buttermilk and determine whether or not you are losing much butter fat in this way. If you patronize a creamery your tester will come handy for keeping a check on the tests at the creamery. Most creamerymen are honest, but that is all the more reason why the dishonest ones should be run out of business. Understanding the test 2 or 3 per cent will add greatly to the profits of the creameryman and cannot be detected unless the patrons have testers of their own.

The Babcock tester is simple to operate. The sample of milk to be tested should be thoroughly tested by pouring from one jar to another three or four times. A sample is then sucked up into the pipette. By putting your finger on the top of the pipette you can let the milk run down until it just comes to the mark on the neck. Then run the milk into one of the test bottles. Number the bottle to correspond with the sample. The sulphuric acid used is what is known as commercial sulphuric acid. The acid and the milk should be at the same temperature before mixing. If they have been in the same room for a few hours they will be all right. Fill the measuring glass up to the mark with the acid, taking care not to get any on your hands or clothing. Pour the acid carefully down the side of the bottle and then mix it thoroughly with the milk by giving the bottle a rotary motion. The sulphuric acid combines with the albumen and casein and leaves the fat free.

Set the bottles in the tester as soon as the acid has been added. When all the bottles are filled the tester should be turned at a uniform rate of about 100 revolutions a minute for five minutes. This brings the fat to the top of the liquid in the bottle. Hot water should then be added carefully to bring the fat up to the neck of the bottle. The machine is then whirled for two minutes. Then more hot water is added to bring the fat column up into the graduated neck of the bottle. After this the machine is whirled for one minute more, and the test is ready to read. The reading should be done before the fat hardens. Each of the small spaces on the neck of the bottle represents two-tenths of 1 per cent. The number of spaces through which the fat column extends indicates the percentage of fat in the milk.

In testing cream special bottles must be used. A small balance is needed to weigh out the samples, as cream cannot be accurately measured. Nine grams are used for each sample, and as much more hot water is added. Only about two-thirds as much acid is needed as for milk.

Within the last few years the hand separator has come into general use on farms where six or more cows are kept, doing away with the old gravity system of rising cream. With the separator all the cream can be removed, which is impossible by any other method. The skimmilk and sweet, which is a great advantage. There is less fat in the skimmilk, but this element can be supplied to the calves a good deal more cheaply by flaxseed than by butter. There may be much less space in the milk tank, as only the cream will need to be kept there. Where a creamery is patronized a great deal of work is saved by having only the cream to haul.

PANIC AS CHURCH BURNS

Woman's screams During Services Start Rush For Safety.

Georgetown, Del., Nov. 29.—Fire in the Methodist Episcopal church here during the services caused a wild panic among the worshippers, who rushed to the street in terror while the flames played over their heads in the rafters.

The roof of the church is of wood and it caught fire during the preaching of the sermon. The congregation rose as the pastor concluded his sermon and began to sing a hymn.

Suddenly the shrill scream of a woman rang out above the notes of the organ and the sound of the singing. She had seen a red tongue of flame, followed by a puff of smoke, in the roof.

In an instant others saw the fire, and the stampede for the doors began. Nobody was hurt, as the congregation was small, and the fire in the roof did not attack the lower part of the church for some minutes.

The edifice, which was valued at $2000, was burned to the ground. It was insured for $800. The origin of the fire is unknown.

ADMIRAL WAINWRIGHT AGAINST THE TEST

He Will Not Submit to 90-Mile Requirement.

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 29.—Rear Admiral Wainwright has placed himself on record as siding with naval officers of advanced age who refuse to submit to the ninety-mile riding and walking test proposed by the navy department. Well informed officials do not hesitate to state that this endurance test was framed up in order to cause retirements and discharges in the service and to make room for younger blood.

Rear Admiral Wainwright, who commanded the United States converted yacht Gloucester at the battle of San Yago, quoted his record and said:

"If that is not good enough the government may release me. The navy includes over 900 officers, and up to date a third of them have yet to do the stunt, while some will no doubt stick to the disobedient attitude owing to their aversions and physical condition."

Many of the navy men who were to come up for promotion received a surprise when they learned they were obliged to undergo the physical test before trying for advancement.

LURE DOGS TO DEATH

Rabbits Lead Pursuers to Electrocutation on Third Rail.

Clayton, N. J., Nov. 29.—Many valuable hunting hounds have met death by electrocution on the third rail since the gunning season opened, and the rabbits seem to have learned that they can end the chase and save their little lives by luring the hounds across the railroad tracks. Very few rabbits are killed on the rails.

With one leap they can clear both third rails, while the pursuing dog generally meets its fate or is shocked so badly that it gives up the chase.

Next morning his mother found him unconscious in bed, and he never recovered.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube.

When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (proved by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SUGAR TRUST'S MEN ON TRIAL

Seven Defendants Up For Underweighing Frauds.

THEY WILL SEEK DELAY

Attorneys For Accused Men Will Use Every Means Possible to Secure a Postponement—It Is Rumored One of Defendants Will Confess—Prosecution Is Confident.

New York, Nov. 29.—The first of the sugar fraud cases was called for trial today. Seven former officials and employees of the American Sugar Refining company were put on trial before Federal Judge Martin, of Vermont, in the United States district court in this city on the charge of underweighing sugar and conspiring to defraud the government.

The preliminary steps taken thus far by the seven defendants show to what extremes the trust is going in its fight to prevent their conviction, realizing that, if convicted, denouement will follow that will leave the trust in an unenviable position.

The indicted men are: James F. Bendersnagel, former general superintendent of the Brooklyn plants of the American Sugar Refining company; Oliver Spitzer, former dock superintendent of the company in Brooklyn; Thomas Kehoe, Jean McVicker, Edward Boyle, John R. Coyle and Patrick Hennessey, weighers.

It is not believed the trials will go on until every legal obstacle the attorneys for the defense can throw in the way have been overcome. Attorneys for the men have prepared a number of demurrers, which must be argued, so that several days are expected to be consumed in the legal technicalities before the actual trial is begun.

A report is still current in New York that one of the indicted officials is prepared to turn state's evidence and lay bare the entire gigantic plot to defraud the government of millions of dollars by underweighing sugar.

Oliver Spitzer, the former dock superintendent, is the man named in these rumors. Special Deputy Attorney General Henry L. Stimson, appointed to prosecute the sugar fraud cases, and District Attorney Wise have spent months preparing for the government's presentation of the case and declare they have their evidence so prepared that there will be no slip up. There are three counts in each indictment. The first charges underweighing; the second, conspiracy to underweigh, and the third, conspiring to defraud the government by this underweighing.

The cargo of the steamship Strathmore, from Java, which was unloaded at the Brooklyn docks of the sugar trust on Nov. 20, 1907, is the specific cargo upon which the indictments are found, while part of the conspiracy is based upon the use of a device found on the scales by which they failed to measure the true weight.

The device was the steel spring placed in a hole at the side of the scale, and when a bag of sugar was placed on it a slight pressure on this spring would prevent the scale from weighing the full measure of the sugar. It was from the hole on each of the seventeen scales that the sugar fraud case derived its now frequent name of "The case of the seventeen holes."

REFUSES TO BE GOVERNOR

Judge Ewing Will Not Accept Republican Nomination.

Pittsburg, Nov. 29.—Friends of Judge Nathaniel Ewing, president of the state railroad commission, have announced that the judge will not be a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. It was explained that he is very well satisfied with his present position and has no disposition to enter the strenuous contest for higher honors.

This announcement rather upset the slate of certain Pittsburg financiers, who had planned to make Judge Ewing their candidate.

Labor Leader Fatally Shot.

Indianapolis, Nov. 29.—George W. Purcell, a well known labor leader and for several years a member of the state labor commission, was shot and fatally wounded in a blind fight at Atlas and is now in a Terre Haute hospital in a dying condition. Taylor Suttles, charged with the shooting, is in jail. He claims self-defense.

Gets Candy; Dies.

Lincoln, Del., Nov. 29.—Sheppard Fountain was found dying in bed. He had some trouble last week with several men, who threatened to kill him. It is supposed that he was given strychnine in some candy which was known to have been sent him. Both the candy and the stomach of the dead man have been sent to the state laboratories.

MOB WHIPS 'PHONE OFFICIAL

Run Out of Town For Forcing Negro Escort Upon Girls.

Dawson, Ga., Nov. 29.—H. C. Gilchrist, of Detroit, superintendent of the telephone exchange here, was cruelly whipped by a number of citizens on account of an attempt by him to force girls employed in the telephone exchange to accept a negro porter as escort.

Gilchrist's offense was committed on Saturday night. One of the girls was detained rather late and was afraid to go home alone. Gilchrist told the girl the negro could escort her. She refused indignantly and told her companions. All the girls in the exchange struck and Gilchrist resigned, stating that the people of Dawson were too sensitive about the negro question.

Meanwhile a mob was gathering, and when Gilchrist tried to escape in an automobile his car was halted and he was taken out and whipped till blood flowed. He also was forced to sign an abject apology to the telephone girls and then allowed to go.

ELECTRIC LIGHT SHOT BOY

Explosion of Bulb Inflicts Wound That May Prove Fatal.

New York, Nov. 29.—By the explosion of an electric light bulb in a tin rail with which he was playing, Joe Rabinitsky, seven years old, has a deep wound in the chest and a piece of metal is lodged fast in the flesh. When the bulb exploded with a report like that of a revolver the boy fell, with blood gushing from his chest. Dr. Al-exander, of Gouverneur hospital, examined and probed the wound. A hard substance was located, but it could not be extracted.

"We believe that the bulb exploded and a small piece of brass, the size of a 32-caliber bullet, shot the boy," said the surgeon. "He is likely to die."

PASSENGER KILLED WHEN TRAIN PARTED

Fell Under Wheels When Express Broke in Two.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 29.—John J. Flach, of Denver, Colo., was instantly killed in an unusual railroad accident on the New York Central railroad between Buffalo and Rochester. He was a passenger aboard the fast Lake Shore limited, and as he was crossing the vestibule between a Pullman sleeper and the dining car the train broke in two, and he was thrown to his death under the trucks.

The rear part of the train stopped suddenly under application of the brakes. William Wickes, the conductor, rushed forward to ascertain the trouble and on the vestibule he noticed a felt hat. He looked down and discovered the body of Mr. Flach doubled up under the trucks.

Mr. Flach was returning to Syracuse to visit his mother and sisters and brothers, whom he had not seen in nine years.

According to railroad officials in this city, this accident was the first of its kind in railroad history in which there has been a loss of life.

Eloper, Killed Girl's Father, Caught.

Camilla, Ga., Nov. 29.—Columbus Huey, who killed T. J. Sellers in this county while eloping with Sellers' daughter, was captured with the girl several miles from the scene of the shooting. He is in jail here. The girl, who was Eula Sellers, declares they were married and that she will not attend her father's funeral. She and Huey declare that her father threatened to kill her unless she should go back home with him when he caught the eloping pair, and that he put his hand to his pocket as if to draw a weapon. She says Huey then fired, killing Sellers instantly.

Va., for selling intoxicants the Floyd Daniels, alleged habitual drunkard, after receiving the wife's warning. The surety company was on the liquor bond of Hill. Use of the Hand Separator.

Within the last few years the hand separator has come into general use on farms where six or more cows are kept, doing away with the old gravity system of raising cream. With the separator all the cream can be removed, which is impossible by any other method. The skim milk can be fed to the calves warm and sweet, which is a great advantage. There is less fat in the skim milk, but this element can be supplied to the calves a good deal more cheaply by flaxseed than by butter. There may be much less space in the milk tank, as only the cream will need to be kept there. Where a creamery is patronized a great deal of work is saved by having only the cream to haul.

In selecting a separator the most important point to look to is the ease of cleaning. There is a great deal of difference in separators in this respect. Some are so complicated that it is almost impossible to wash all parts thoroughly, while others can be so completely taken apart that washing is an easy task. It is not the number of parts to a bowl that makes a separator difficult to keep clean, but the ease with which all these parts may be separated, so that they may be reached with a brush.

Some of the other points to consider are convenience, capacity and durability. The capacity will depend largely upon the number of cows kept. It is always better to get a machine too large than too small. The latest models of nearly all makes of separators are made so that the top of the supply tank is little more than waist high. No other kind should be bought. It is a useless waste of energy to lift heavy cans of milk five or six feet high every night and morning. With these low built makes the skim milk and cream cans may be placed on the floor, so that they will require little lifting.

The Importance of Cleanliness.

Serious objection has been made to the cream separator on the ground that it lowers the quality of the cream and butter. In many cases there is ground for this complaint. Unless absolute cleanliness is the rule the cream is liable to be of poor quality. The milk and slime in the bowl are the best of food for injurious bacteria, and these multiply rapidly when the separator is not kept clean. Never rinse the bowl with cold water and leave it

PANIC AS CHURCH BURNS
Woman's screams During Services Startle Rush For Safety.
Georgetown, Del., Nov. 29.—Fire in the Methodist Episcopal church here during the services caused a wild panic among the worshippers, who rushed to the street in terror while the flames played over their heads in the rafters.
The roof of the church is of wood, and it caught fire during the preaching of the sermon. The congregation rose as the pastor concluded his sermon and began to sing a hymn.
Suddenly the shrill scream of a woman rang out above the notes of the organ and the sound of the singing. She had seen a red tongue of flame, followed by a puff of smoke, in the roof.
In an instant others saw the fire, and the stampede for the doors began. Nobody was hurt, as the congregation was small, and the fire in the roof did not attack the lower part of the church for some minutes.
The edifice, which was valued at $6000, was burned to the ground. It was insured for $900. The origin of the fire is unknown.

ance test was framed up in order to "cause retirements and discharges in the service and to make room for younger blood."
Rear Admiral Wainwright, who commanded the United States converted yacht Gloucester at the battle of San Yago, quoted his record and said: "If that is not good enough the government may release me. The navy includes over 900 officers, and up to date a third of them have yet to do the stunt, while some will no doubt stick to the disobedient attitude owing to their aversions and physical condition."
Many of the navy men who were to come up for promotion received a surprise when they learned they were obliged to undergo the physical test before trying for advancement.

LURE DOGS TO DEATH
Rabbits Lead Pursuers to Electrocution on Third Rail.
Clayton, N. J., Nov. 29.—Many valuable hunting hounds have met death by electrocution on the third rail since the gunning season opened, and the rabbits seem to have learned that they can end the chase and save their little lives by luring the hounds across the railroad tracks. Very few rabbits are killed on the rails.
With one leap they can clear both third rails, while the pursuing dog generally meets its fate or is shocked so badly that it gives up the chase.

SUGAR TRUST'S MEN ON TRIAL
Seven Defendants Up For Underweighing Frauds.
THEY WILL SEEK DELAY
Attorneys For Accused Men Will Use Every Means Possible to Secure a Postponement—It Is Rumored One of Defendants Will Confess—Prosecution Is Confident.
New York, Nov. 29.—The first of the sugar fraud cases was called for trial today. Seven former officials and employees of the American Sugar Refining company were put on trial before Federal Judge Martin, of Vermont, in the United States district court in this city on the charge of underweighing sugar and conspiring to defraud the government.
The preliminary steps taken thus far by the seven defendants show to what extremes the trust is going in its fight to prevent their conviction, realizing that, if convicted, denouements will follow that will leave the trust in an unenviable position.
The indicted men are: James F. Dendernagel, former general superintendent of the Brooklyn plants of the American Sugar Refining company; Oliver Spitzer, former dock superintendent of the company in Brooklyn; Thomas Kehoe, Joan McVicker, 134 ward Doyle, John R. Coyle and Patrick Hennessy, weighers.
It is not believed the trials will go on until every legal obstacle the attorneys for the defense can throw in the way have been overcome. Attorneys for the men have prepared a number of demurrers, which must be argued, so that several days are expected to be consumed in the legal technicalities before the actual trial is begun.
A report is still current in New York that one of the indicted officials is prepared to turn state's evidence and lay bare the entire gigantic plot to defraud the government of millions of dollars by underweighing sugar.
Oliver Spitzer, the former dock superintendent, is the man named in these rumors. Special Deputy Attorney General Henry L. Stimson, appointed to prosecute the sugar fraud cases and District Attorney Wise have spent months preparing for the government's presentation of the case and declare they have their evidence so prepared that there will be no slip up. There are three counts in each indictment. The first charges underweighing; the second, conspiracy to underweigh; and the third, conspiring to defraud the government by thus underweighing.
The cargo of the steamship Strathmore, from Java, which was unloaded at the Brooklyn docks of the sugar trust on Nov. 20, 1907, is the specific cargo upon which the indictment is based, while part of the conspiracy is based upon the use of a device found on the scales by which they failed to measure the true weight.
The device was the steel spring placed in a hole at the side of the scale and when a bag of sugar was placed on it a slight pressure on this spring would prevent the scale from weighing the full measure of the sugar. It was from the hole on each of the seventeen scales that the sugar fraud case derived its now frequent name of "The case of the seventeen holes."

REFUSES TO BE GOVERNOR
Judge Ewing Will Not Accept Republican Nomination.
Pittsburg, Nov. 29.—Friends of Judge Nathaniel Ewing, president of the state railroad commission, have announced that the judge will not be a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. It was explained that he is very well satisfied with his present position and has no disposition to enter the strenuous contest for higher honors.
This announcement rather upsets the slate of certain Pittsburg financiers, who had planned to make Judge Ewing their candidate.
Labor Leader Fatally Shot.
Indianapolis, Nov. 29.—George W. Purcell, a well known labor leader and for several years a member of the state labor commission, was shot and fatally wounded in a blind tiger at Atlas and is now in a Torre Haute hospital in a dying condition. Taylor Stutts, charged with the shooting, is in jail. He claims self-defense.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube.
When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is only slightly inflamed you have a fullness in the ear. Deafness in the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; and cases of deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Run Out of Town For Forcing Negro Escort Upon Girls.
Dawson, Ga., Nov. 29.—H. C. Gilchrist, of Detroit, superintendent of the telephone exchange here, was cruelly whipped by a number of citizens on account of an attempt by him to force girls employed in the telephone exchange to accept a negro porter as escort.
Gilchrist's offense was committed on Saturday night. One of the girls was detained rather late and was afraid to go home alone. Gilchrist told the girl the negro could escort her. She refused indignantly and told her companions. All the girls in the exchange struck and Gilchrist resigned, stating that the people of Dawson were too sensitive about the negro question.
Meanwhile a mob was gathering, and when Gilchrist tried to escape in an automobile his car was halted and he was taken out and whipped till blood flowed. He also was forced to sign an apology to the telephone girls and then allowed to go.

ELECTRIC LIGHT SHOT BOY
Explosion of Bulb Inflicts Wound That May Prove Fatal.
New York, Nov. 29.—By the explosion of an electric light bulb in a tin parl with which he was playing, Joe Rubinsky, seven years old, has a deep wound in the chest and a piece of metal is lodged fast in the flesh. When the bulb exploded with a report like that of a revolver the boy fell, with blood gushing from his chest. Dr. Alexander, of Gouverneur hospital, examined and probed the wound. A hard substance was located, but it could not be extracted.
"I believe that the bulb exploded and a small piece of brass, the size of a .22 caliber bullet, shot the boy," said the surgeon. "He is likely to die."

PASSENGER KILLED WHEN TRAIN PARTED
Fell Under Wheels When Express Broke in Two.
Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 29.—John J. Flach, of Denver, Colo., was instantly killed in an unusual railroad accident on the New York Central railroad between Buffalo and Rochester. He was a passenger aboard the fast Lake Shore limited, and as he was crossing the vestibule between a Pullman sleeper and the dining car the train broke in two, and he was thrown to his death under the trucks.
The rear part of the train stopped suddenly under application of the air-brakes. William Wickes, the conductor, rushed forward to ascertain the trouble and on the vestibule he noticed a felt hat. He looked down and discovered the body of Mr. Flach doubled up under the trucks.
Mr. Flach was returning to Syracuse to visit his mother and sisters and brothers, whom he had not seen in nine years.

Eloper, Killed Girl's Father, Caught.
Camilla, Ga., Nov. 29.—Columbus Huey, who killed T. J. Sellers in this county while eloping with Sellers' daughter, was captured with the girl several miles from the scene of the shooting. He is in jail here. The girl who was Julia Sellers, declares they were married and that she will not attend her father's funeral. She and Huey declare that her father threatened to kill her unless she should go back home with him when he caught the eloping pair, and that he put his hand to his pocket as if to draw a weapon. She says Huey then fired, killing Sellers instantly.

Use of the Tester.
No dairy farmer can afford to be without a Babcock tester. A complete tester, consisting of a tester, milk and cream bottles and a supply of sulphuric acid, can be purchased for about $5. With a tester the farmer can test his cows, as described in article 8, at home. He can test the separator to see that it is working properly. If the bowl is wobbly or the machine out of level a considerable amount of butter fat may be lost in the skim milk without the dairyman knowing anything about it. If you churn your own cream a tester will enable you to test your buttermilk and determine whether or not you are losing much butter fat in this way. If you patronize a creamery your tester will come handy for keeping a check on the tests at the creamery. Most creamerymen are honest, but that is all the more reason why the dishonest ones should be run out of business. Under the test 2 or 3 per cent will add greatly to the profits of the creameryman and cannot be detected unless the patrons have testers of their own.

Handling the Cream.
As soon as the cream is separated it should be cooled down to about 50 degrees as rapidly as possible. This can be done by putting it in a tank of fresh well water. Do not keep the cream too long before taking it to the creamery, not over two days in warm weather and three or four in cold. Good butter cannot be made from old cream.

Nervous Collapse

"I have traveled for thirty years continually. I lost a great deal of sleep, which together with constant worry left me in such a nervous state that finally, after having two collapses of nervous prostration, I was obliged to give up traveling altogether. I doctored continually but with no relief. Dr. Miles' Nervine came to my rescue—I cannot describe the suffering which this Nervine saved me. Whenever I am particularly nervous a few doses relieve me." A. G. C. LIBBY, Wells, Me.
There are many nervous wrecks. There is nervous prostration of the stomach, of the bowels, and other organs. The brain, the kidneys, the liver, the nerve centers are all exhausted. There is but one thing to do—build up the nervous system by the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. Its strengthening influence upon the nervous system restores normal action to the organs, and when they all work in harmony, health is assured. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

The Honorable Board.
Sam Rawson occasionally sold a good thing, and one of these occasions happened to be the town meeting. The people of Sam's village could not understand how the money appropriated for the roads had vanished with such poor results. A stretch of road running past Sam's house was in notoriously poor condition, although Sam declared that he had paid liberally to have it put in good order, and there was general interest when Sam rose to make his statement before the selectmen.
"I'd just like to say one thing," he drawled, heedless of the fact that he had interrupted an indignant neighbor. "I don't want to make any fuss, but I'd just like to ask the honorable board of highwaymen—"
That was as far as he could get. A roar of laughter swept over the town meeting and showed its effects in the red faces of the "highwaymen."

An Up-To-Date Druggist

says it is surprising how many old fashioned remedies are being used, which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old, time-tried remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy, nothing equaling our grandmothers' "sage tea" has ever been discovered. Although, by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer. Nowadays when our hair comes out or gets faded or gray, instead of going to the garden or garret for herbs and making the tea ourselves, we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. This preparation is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlands St., New York City, upon receipt of price. ## FEAR TRADE WAR WITH CANADA

An Effort May be Made to Again Revise Tariff.

STAND-PATTERNS PROVOKED

Congressman Mann Will Introduce a Number of Bills in the House That is Expected to Open Up the Tariff Argument—Payne Pooch-Pooche Revision Talk.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Stand-pat Republicans do not like the clamor from various quarters for another revision of the tariff by the present congress. They are very much provoked over the situation and are particularly incensed with Representatives James R. Mann, of Illinois, who has announced a purpose to introduce a series of bills in the house that is expected to open up the tariff for serious discussion at the coming session. Mr. Mann's prominence and his affiliation with the Cannon organization make his course something to be reckoned with.
Representative Sereno E. Payne, of New York, chairman of the committee on ways and means, who has just come to town, pooch-pooches the idea that the house may be induced this winter to revise the tariff in whole as demanded by Republican insurgents in the west or in part as proposed by Representative Mann.
Mann Has Bills Ready.
It is a pretty prevalent belief in Washington that the Mann bills, relating in the main to the trade relations of the United States with Canada, will offer an excuse for agitation by Republicans such as Senator Cummins, of Iowa, who insists that the party failed to conform to its platform pledges of 1918 when it placed the Payne tariff act before the president for approval. One of Mr. Mann's bills provides for a change in the wool pulp print paper schedule of the new tariff law; another exempts Canadian products from the application of the maximum tariff, and a third provides for postponing the date upon which the maximum tariff shall become effective.

One of Mr. Mann's bills provides for a change in the wool pulp print paper schedule of the new tariff law; another exempts Canadian products from the application of the maximum tariff, and a third provides for postponing the date upon which the maximum tariff shall become effective.

Fear Trade War With Canada.
Representative Mann announced that he was prompted to introduce the bills because of a fear that if the tariff law was enforced in its present form a disastrous trade war with Canada would result. This fear is said to be shared with some administration leaders. Whether the Mann bills will have the support of the administration has not been disclosed. Nor is it known what attitude Speaker Cannon will assume toward the measures. In addition to the significance attached to the purpose of Mr. Mann's move to revise the tariff by reason of the fact that he is one of the chief lieutenants of Speaker Cannon, Mr. Mann has been a frequent caller at the White House lately, and it is understood that he acquainted the president with his determination to introduce bills for a partial revision of the tariff.
The administration it is known, is very much concerned over the present trade relations of this country with Canada, and is apprehensive that commercial warfare with Canada would be not a harmful in its influence upon American trade than would be the minimum rates to Canadian products, as well as to the products of other countries, while certain senators and representatives contend that though the instrumentality of the maximum and minimum tariff they reviewed the "wax upward instead of downward."

Mrs. Taft's Secretary to Wed.
Washington, Nov. 29.—Miss Alice Bloch, Mrs. Taft's secretary, is to be married to Lieutenant Richard Walnwright, Jr., U. S. N., son of Rear Admiral Walnwright. The engagement is announced by her mother, Mrs. Paul Bloch. No date for the wedding has been set, but it will take place probably in the spring. Miss Bloch's home is in Alexandria, Va.

Cuban Officials Hurt.
Havana, Nov. 29.—While automobiling, Justice Dirino, Juan Garcia Kohly and his brother, Major Garcia Kohly, the newly appointed Cuban minister to Mexico were thrown from the car by the breaking of a tire and all were badly hurt. It is thought Juan Kohly's injuries may prove fatal.

In a very good natured discussion, which the writer had not long since with the advertising manager of one of the two largest catalogue houses in the country the point was urged against patronizing catalogue concerns that in the measure in which it was indulged in it tended to knock out the business of the small towns and as a consequence to reduce the value of adjacent farm lands. Our friend did not offer to deny the truth of this statement—in fact, acquiesced in it when he later stated that he thought Mississippi valley lands were getting too high. There is something in this admission for regular catalogue house patrons to ponder over.

BIG TELEPHONE DEAL

Independent Lines in Pennsylvania Sold to Continental Co., of New York. Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 29.—Control of virtually all of the independent telephone lines outside of Philadelphia and Allegheny counties has passed into the hands of the Continental Telephone and Telegraph company, of New York, with the purchase of the American Union Telephone company, which was announced at the head quarters of the American Union company here.

The American Union was formed for the purpose of continuing the independent lines in Pennsylvania about two years ago. Its authorized capital is $25,000,000, of which there has been issued $2,900,000 of preferred and $2,700,000 of common stock. It has $11,900,000 of bonds outstanding.
The Continental Telephone and Telegraph company controls independent lines in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia, in addition to the Pennsylvania lines acquired by this latest purchase.

DOCTOR TATOOS BALL ON SIGHTLESS EYE

Unique Operation to Improve Girl's Appearance.

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—An operation never performed before in this city, and only performed a few times by the greatest eye specialists of the world, was successfully completed in a hospital clinic before the senior class of the Medico-Chirurgical College of Pharmacy, by Dr. L. Webster Fox, who occupies the chair of ophthalmology in the college.

By the use of six needles, India ink and a vegetable dye the doctor succeeded in tattooing the perfect semblance of an eye on the blind eyeball of a young Jewish girl, which was covered with an ugly white hemish the size of a five-cent piece.
The young girl came to Dr. Fox and asked him to put a glass eye in place of the diseased tissues which made her face repulsive to look at. The doctor, upon examination, found that the growth over the cornea was so strong that the delicate operation that came in his mind could be performed with a chance of success.

Cocaine was inserted to destroy whatever sensibility remained, but no anesthetic was administered to the patient who did not appear to suffer any pain while the operation was going on.

Before their eyes the students saw the skillful hand of the doctor guiding the tattooing needles produce the semblance of an eye with the skill and patience of a trained artist on a surface that had been a blank white.

India ink was used for the pupil. For the iris a vegetable dye which had been carefully experimented with was employed, and the brown color of the other and healthy iris in the girl's other eye was duplicated.

Many little holes were punched in the eyeball before the operation was over. Their total number, some of the students estimated, could not be less than two thousand.

MINERS TO ELECT OFFICERS

Ballots Being Sent Out to All Unions in Organization.

Indianapolis, Nov. 29.—The ballot for the election of president and other officers of the United Mine Workers of America are being sent out from the headquarters here to all the locals in the organization, and friends of President Tom Lewis and William Green, of Ohio, both of whom are in the race for the presidency, are canvassing personally the several districts and sending out thousands of circular letters in advocacy of their candidates.

John H. Walker, of Illinois, who was a candidate against Lewis last year, is managing Green's canvass, and as much bitterness is being injected as last year, when there was fear of disrupting the organization.
Reports from the locals in the soft coal districts show that the miners will demand a substantial increase in wages and that changes in the working agreement will also be demanded.

NEW BUTTER SWINDLE

Oleo Was Refined and Made to Look Taste and Smell Like Butter.
La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 29.—Through the arrest and the indictment by the federal grand jury of A. E. Graham, of Janesville, Wis., United States authorities say they have disclosed the operations of an organized gang of butter swindlers who are working the country.
By means of a machine perfected by Graham, oleomargarine was refined and given the appearance, taste and smell of creamy butter, it is declared. The alleged fraud was detected only after analysis of some of the "butter."

DR. COOK GOES AWAY TO REST

Arctic Explorer on the Verge of Nervous Breakdown.

PLACE OF RETREAT A SECRET

Is Said to Fear Plot to Steal His Records, and Wife Had Him Conveyed to Seclusion—Wellman Doubts Cook's Polar Story.

New York, Nov. 29.—The mystery of Dr. Cook's strange disappearance has been explained. He has gone away to seek recuperation. Where he is resting is not stated, as it is desired that he shall have absolute quiet.

It was said that Dr. Cook's health is a matter of great concern among his friends. Prior to his sudden retirement he was reported to be on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and it is thought that the necessity for absolute rest may have prompted his wife to insist on his seclusion until he shall have recuperated.

Friends of Dr. Cook, who are grieved over the turn his affairs have taken of late, undertook to explain the situation in this wise:

"It is true," they say, "that the doctor's fears have been greatly worked on by the belief of some of those with whom he associated that there exists a plot to steal his records and even to split him away in person. He even engaged two private detectives to shadow his supposed shadowers. Mrs. Cook and those in her confidence felt that this atmosphere was not good for the doctor and arranged to have him conveyed into seclusion."

"The doctor intended no mystery. All that aspect of his affairs has resulted from the announcement made by Mr. Wack, who has not seen Dr. Cook for a week, and merely acted on presumption that he was to sail on the Caronia."

Mrs. Cook's whereabouts is as much of a mystery as that of her husband. She is supposed to be staying some where in the city, but just where it could not be learned.
Mr. Wack, his counsel, has gone to the country for a week, also to seek seclusion. Mr. Wack, his confident affirms that he knows where Dr. Cook is and that he isn't going to tell.

WELLMAN DOUBTS COOK

Suspicious of What He Tells as Well as What He Does Not Tell.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Walter Wellman, whose preparations for a conquest of the North Pole in an airship were abandoned upon the announcement of the claims of Dr. Frederick A. Cook and Commander Robert E. Peary, issued a long statement here, in which he analyzes the narratives of the two explorers, declaring that of Peary "precise workmanlike, consistent credible in every particular," and denouncing that of Dr. Cook as a self-evident and even deliberate imposture.

"Cook's story is suspicious both in what it does tell and what it does not tell," Mr. Wellman declares. "He is generally vague and indefinite, but, like most men of his class, altogether too precise at the wrong place. Nowhere does his story ring true. It is always an approximation of reality itself. This is true of his figures, his descriptions, everything."

"Those of us who have had a share in Arctic work," says Wellman, in concluding his analysis, "and who have felt anxiety that no blot of fraud should stain the proud record of effort and sacrifice, had a first hope—that Dr. Cook would be able to demonstrate his good faith. This has dissolved in analysis of his own story."

Easton Forger Locked Up in Newark.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 29.—William I. Daley, who is wanted for forgery at Easton, Pa., is locked up here. He walked into police headquarters and gave himself up. It is said that he forged a check in the name of "G. J. Fisher" and passed it on W. R. Brickner, a merchant of Easton.

Boy Fatally Hurt by Comrade's Gun.
Allentown, Pa., Nov. 29.—As the result of a holiday gunning trip, Carl Beaver, ten years old, is dying at the Allentown hospital, his face terribly torn by a charge of shot from his companion's gun, in climbing over a fence the gun was discharged. There is no hope for his recovery.

Ex-Governor Harris Hurt.
Richmond, Va., Nov. 29.—Former Governor Andrew L. Harris, of Ohio, and Mrs. Harris were slightly injured when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a street car. They were able to continue their journey home.

Accidentally Shot Himself.
Sayville, N. Y., Nov. 29.—John McNulty, sixteen years old, while rabbit hunting in the woods, shot himself by the accidental discharge of his gun. The full charge of shot entered his body and he bled to death before doctors could reach him.

Mexican Towns Stop Bullfighting.
Mexico City, Nov. 29.—Bullfighting has been prohibited in the town of Contzacoalcos and the adjacent district upon the Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

DEER HUNTING

hills, unless by chance they hide away or come to the amateur or man who gets the "back fever" and forgets he has a gun in his hands. This affliction often results in the unintentional killing of female which is forbidden by law and is much less profitable (a fine of one hundred dollars.)

About twenty five deer have been killed during the present season, including eight or nine females. The latter should be avoided if accidental and guilty parties severely punished if done for sport.

Those taking part in this hunting seem to be filled with delight and the enthusiasm runs so high that it is truly interesting to sit in the business places of Franklin township and listen to the stories as they are being told. The deer have even been named by them, for instance, "Old Bill," "Charlie," "Cripple Foot," and "Old Fan," several of these, however, have been killed during the past several years, and it is said that "Charlie" is now in possession of the Charman Camp. Thus you see modern minds have invented modern methods in deer hunting in Adams County.

B. C. Whitney's famous Broadway success, "The Show Girl," will be the attraction at the Walter Theatre, Saturday, Dec. 4th. The production is a glittering spectacle as to scenic embellishments and magnificent costumes, while the music is catchy and tuneful, tactfully interspersed with the comedy situations and just the sort that one can readily whistle. The principal musical hits are: "That's the Way of a Sailor," "I Don't Want to be a Lady," "I'm the Manager," "Psyche," "Reggie's Family Tree," and "One that he Loves." A large chorus of pretty singing girls, who dance with an abandon and vivacity that is irresistible, will be seen with the production.

BILLY RIGGS' CASE.

By BRUCE PARKER.
[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

During the civil war one of the many things that interested me was the fact that after a hard day's march, when we men were lying about on the ground resting, the drummer boys would choose a convenient place and play ball. One of these boys of our regiment turned out to be a young hero. He was known as Billy, and his other name was Riggs. He was fourteen years old and small for his age.

No one has ever been able to account for the "blunder" that won the battle of Missionary Ridge. I happened to see that blunder at the time it was made. Billy Riggs was the blunderer. Our regiment was one of the line at the base of the ridge and in one of the most exposed positions. We were suffering under a fire that we could not return with any hope of hurting any one, for we were obliged to shoot up the side of a mountain at an enemy we couldn't see.

Billy Riggs was standing with the drum corps looking up the side of the mountain. Suddenly he made a jump and, landing on a rock in front of him, began to climb. In a few moments he was sheltered behind a precipitous bank. There he began to drum like mad. What he did for I didn't know, but I supposed it was to let the men know that if they would come up there they would be under cover. At any rate, several men followed Billy, and a number followed the several, and it wasn't two minutes before the regiment, or the bulk of it, was climbing to Billy's position.

But Billy wasn't there. Realizing that there wasn't room for 600 men where he stood and seeing a similar position higher up, he went there and stood rattling his sheepskin to let his comrades know that there was plenty of room beside him. The most daring as well as the most chivalrous left their cover to make room for others and followed Billy.

By this time the regiments on our right and left, seeing our game, concluded to practice it in their own behalf. In other words, three-quarters of a brigade were climbing the steep. Other regiments followed, and regimental commanders, thinking that an advance had been ordered, took their commands where they saw others going. Before the general in chief could send orders to stop the advance most of the army was halfway up the hill, and soon after gaining the top the ridge was won.

So it was that what appeared to be a foolhardy movement led to victory and is recorded in history as "the soldiers' battle." The soldier that led that army was a drummer boy, and his name was Billy Riggs.

After the fight we men talked the matter over and agreed that it was a sort of genius in Billy, of which he was entirely unconscious, that had gained an important victory. In other words, he saw that safety was in an advance. But the officers either didn't see his act or declined to attach much importance to it.

In time I was given a commission in the regular army and ten years later as a major of infantry was assigned to command of a three company post west of the Missouri river. The day I arrived at my post as I approached riding across a plain I heard a sound of drums and lifes playing the "Regues' March." I knew that some culprit was being drummed out of camp and put spurs to my horse to see the ceremony. Entering the gate, I saw the garrison drawn up in line before which a drum corps was leading a man with a feather behind each ear. There was something in his walk that was familiar to me. I rode to a position where he would pass close to me, and when he went by I was sure I had known him. Flattening the squad, I asked his name:

"Private William Riggs." Billy looked up at me and recognized me. There was a curious expression on his face, of injured innocence, mortification and pleasure at seeing one of his old comrades under such distressing circumstances.

"Stop this!" I cried angrily. "Our commander," began the sergeant in command, but I cut him short. "I am commander here," I said sharply. And, dismounting, I took Billy in my arms, pulling the feathers from behind his ears at the same time.

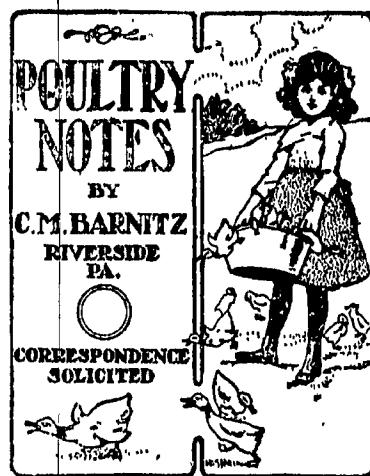

By this time the officer temporarily in command of the post, a lieutenant out of West Point several years after the war had ceased, came prancing across the parade to discover who was interfering with the execution of his orders. Seeing a gold leaf on my shoulder, he came on hesitatingly, looking up at me as much as to say, "Who are you anyway?" and "What do you mean by embracing a man under punishment?" I explained to him that I was the new commandant, that I had known Private Riggs in the civil war as a brave boy and that I preferred to investigate the case before it went any further.

The investigation proved that Billy had been restless under the command of a man who was his inferior in all except theoretic military subjects, an antagonism had sprung up between them and Billy had got the worst of it, as all rebellious soldiers are bound to do in the end. Under my command Private Riggs became the best soldier at the post, rose to be first sergeant of his company, and I eventually succeeded in getting him a commission. He fought Indians under me, and, though he was brave and cool, he admitted that he missed the inspiration of the drum, which cannot be used in savage warfare.

EGGS UNDER THE X RAY.

Don't let your mammy hen wear her breastbone to a frazzle on rotten eggs, or don't run an incubator to hatch zeros when by a squirt of the eye through an egg you can "count your chickens before they're hatched."

Test the fifth day for white and the seventh for dark shelled eggs, and always have eggs 103 degrees hot and the room dark. If bad you can reset; if good you can prepare the chicklet cradle and the "nestle food" for the little bright eyed ruffle fluffies.

Make your own tester. With clean hands remove no more than seventy-five eggs at a time from the incubator, using a soft lined covered basket to bear to the tester and another to return proved eggs to machine. Turn the X ray on a few eggs.

This is a strong germated egg. Five days previous you could see nothing in it but the latent yolk shadow. One hundred and three degrees developed the invisible germ into a blood red spider which five days' more heat will change into a frisky chick with downy feathers.

A clear egg is infertile or should be better for the chickens and thrown to the hogs.

The red streak across an egg is an exploded germ whose main blood vessel has been ruptured, often caused by rough handling.

An egg with a floating dark mass at the top is a "spot," which by the fifteenth day becomes a "rot," which if allowed to remain will not smell like a sweet forgetment.

Such eggs so affect incubator atmosphere as to kill chick germs, therefore get "mosey" at the second test. Pass the egg before the headlight on your nose and if it smell not like a red, red rose "take it up gently, handle with care," or it may shoot you fair and square.

The black spot is a dead germ. Perhaps it was chilled before setting, came from weakly old stock was laid by an immature pullet, fathered by a sickly male or was killed by overheat.

Your first test may be great, but you better wait before you celebrate. Eggs often look lovely at first and then, like a bubble, burst.

Like some people, they start fairly, run a bit, slack up "fairly" and then quit.

The test on the fifteenth is made to catch eggs that were missed and new ones that have died.

Eggs of which you are uncertain should be marked (?) and returned. If your thermometer is a "lay down," select the best fertilized eggs for the bulb to rest on, otherwise it will rest on a dead cold egg that requires more heat, you will run the heat too high, and your five eggs that have natural heat will be roasted. Always examine unhatched and rejected eggs. You will thus learn the successive stages of incubation, better understand the condition of eggs when testing and often learn the cause of a poor hatch.

Will Wonders Never Cease

He Was Almost Dead.

When the Root Juice people were here hundreds of people flocked to the drug store to see them and get some of the great remedy, and after they left the great sale of the remedy continued because of the many remarkable cures it made. Many names of people living in this locality who were cured by taking a few bottles of Root Juice were published in this paper. The remedy is such a health promoting agent that it creates great excitement in every city in which it is introduced. Mr. Albert Timlick, of Cantrell, Ill., wrote and said: For a number of years I suffered with a severe stomach trouble and tried many kinds of medicine but none did me any good. I was almost dead when I started on my first bottle of Root Juice, but as soon as I took three or four doses I began to feel better. Four bottles of the Juice made a complete cure of my troubles. I now have a good appetite and can eat anything I want. Before I took Root Juice I could not digest the lightest food. It would sour on my stomach and I would bloat fearfully. I digested everything I eat now. It has certainly worked wonders for me. Root Juice is a great healing tonic to the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys. It is sold for $1 a bottle. Three bottles for $2.50 at the People's drug store.

DEER HUNTING

hills, unless by chance they hide away or come to the amateur or man who gets the "buck fever" and forgets he has a gun in his hands. This affliction often results in the unintentional killing of female which is forbidden by law and is much less profitable (a fine of one hundred dollars.)

About twenty five deer have been killed during the present season, including eight or nine females. The latter should be avoided if accidental and guilty parties severely punished if done for sport.

Those taking part in this hunting seem to be filled with delight and the enthusiasm runs so high that it is truly interesting to sit in the business places of Franklin township and listen to the stories as they are being told. The deer have even been named by them, for instance, "Old Bill," "Charlie," "Cripple Foot" and "Old Fan," several of these, however, have been killed during the past several years, and it is said that "Charlie" is now in possession of the Charnian Camp. Thus you see modern minds have invented modern methods in deer hunting in Adams County.

B. C. Whitney's famous Broadway success, "The Show Girl," will be the attraction at the Walter Theatre, Saturday, Dec. 4th. The production is a glittering spectacle as to scenic embellishments and magnificent costumes, while the music is catchy and tuneful, tactfully interspersed with the comedy situations and just the sort that one can readily whistle. The principal musical hits are: "That's the Way of a Sailor," "I Don't Want to be a Lady," "I'm the Manager," "Psyche," "Reggie's Family Tree," and "One that he Loves." A large chorus of pretty singing girls, who dance with an abandon and vivacity that is irresistible, will be seen with the production.

BILLY RIGGS' CASE.

By BRUCE PARKER.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

During the civil war one of the many things that interested me was the fact that after a hard day's march, when we men were lying about on the ground resting, the drummer boys would choose a convenient place and play ball. One of these boys of our regiment turned out to be a young hero. He was known as Billy, and his other name was Riggs. He was fourteen years old and small for his age.

No one has ever been able to account for the "blunder" that won the battle of Missionary Ridge. I happened to see that blunder at the time it was made. Billy Riggs was the blunderer. Our regiment was one of the line at the base of the ridge and in one of the most exposed positions. We were suffering under a fire that we could not return with any hope of hurting any one, for we were obliged to shoot up the side of a mountain at an enemy we couldn't see.

Billy Riggs was standing with the drum corps looking up the side of the mountain. Suddenly he made a jump and, landing on a rock in front of him, began to climb. In a few moments he was sheltered behind a precipitous bank. There he began to drum like mad. What he did it for I didn't know, but I supposed it was to let the men know that if they would come up there they would be under cover. At any rate, several men followed Billy, and a number followed the several, and it wasn't two minutes before the regiment, or the bulk of it, was climbing to Billy's position.

But Billy wasn't there. Realizing that there wasn't room for 600 men where he stood and seeing a similar position higher up, he went there and stood rattling his sheepskin to let his comrades know that there was plenty of room beside him. The most daring as well as the most chivalrous left their cover to make room for others and followed Billy.

By this time the regiments on our right and left, seeing our game, concluded to practice it in their own behalf. In other words, three-quarters of a brigade were climbing the steep.
